

Council Asks Board Of Health Review Decision On Nurse

Public Duty To Look Into Sight And Hearing Of School Children, Declares Mayor Dales

After hearing resolutions passed by town organizations, and a discussion of the subject, the Newmarket town council Monday evening made a request that the board of health reconsider its recommendation that the town not engage a public health nurse until after taking a vote of the citizens on the question.

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales urged the council to take action in the matter.

The council heard letters from the Lions club, the Women's Institute, the Catholic Women's League and from the Home and School Association.

Mrs. W. H. Bell on behalf of the Home and School Association, wrote that the council had "in the past administered the affairs of this town in a most able manner; and on matters of public welfare have given most intelligent service. The people have every confidence in the council's ability to continue to decide these matters without causing the expense of a plebiscite."

Mrs. Bell enclosed a letter from Edna L. Moore, chief health nurse of the province of Ontario, telling of the service which a nurse would render in reducing the maternal death rate, the infant death rate, assisting with immunization against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, scarlet fever and tetanus, control of tuberculosis, nutrition and health education, working both in the schools and in the homes.

Councillor A. D. Evans said that there was a better program laid out for a public health nurse than there was when Newmarket had a nurse before.

"You will find the same resentment on the part of the public today about interference in their affairs by a public health nurse," said Councillor A. V. Higginson. "I hear it in the factory."

"We do not lay enough emphasis on public health," said Dr. Dales. "The government has to step in and make us do so many things, or we wouldn't do them. There are so many things a nurse could do. I think that it is our duty to see that children can hear and see properly. A public health nurse would save this town a lot of money."

"We are entitled to more information about costs," said Councillor A. D. Evans.

"Well, shall we ask the Home and School Association for more information?" said Dr. Dales.

"I think that this is a matter for the board of health," said Councillor Frank Bowser. "I am in favor of a health nurse but the M.O.H. says a health nurse isn't necessary."

"Oh, no," said Dr. Dales. "He is in favor of one but he says to put it to the people in a plebiscite."

Mr. Evans thought the council should have more information to be able to answer questions about the health nurse.

"We want to be shown," said Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale.

"The Home and School Association should educate the public and make the public in favor of it," said Reeve F. A. Lundy. "It's no use doing anything about it until the public is ready for it."

Mr. Bowser and Mr. Vale thought the matter should be handled by the board of health.

Olympic Star Will Take Part In Army Week Sports

EVEN HIGHLAND DANCING INCLUDED IN VARIED JULY 1 PROGRAM

When the army games and athletic events take place at the Newmarket fair grounds on Wednesday, July 1, L. Cpl. Larry O'Connor, the Canadian track and field Olympic champion, who is stationed at Newmarket training camp, will play a prominent part. The day will be an "Army Week" event.

A citizens' committee headed by W. L. Bosworth and Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales has lined up a well-nigh dazzling program. Attractions will be in progress simultaneously in various sections of the grounds. The events run from an open horseshoe pitching competition, tug-of-war and softball tournaments, to highland dances and a vaudeville show in the evening.

Will Provide Sand For Incendiary Bombs

By Rudy Renzius, Press Secretary of the Newmarket Civilian Defence Committee

The Newmarket Civilian Defence committee met at the fire hall on Tuesday night of last week, following the firemen's practice at Stuart Scott school grounds.

Before the next meeting, on Tuesday, July 7, the firemen will give a demonstration of what they can do in case of fire, in East Guillembury (north Newmarket), using ladders and hose. Plan to be there.

The meeting was a large one and many topics of interest came up for discussion.

It was decided to make sand available for citizens who wish to have a bucket or two handy in case of incendiary bombs. Tests in Great Britain have shown that a shovel or two of sand will put out a bomb out of action. If you are interested in getting some sand, contact Councillor Frank Bowser, and he will tell you where to pick up some. If enough interest is shown regular covered boxes will be installed at central points.

W. W. Osborne brought up a point relative to putting in a coal supply early. In case you do put in soft or blower coal, be sure there is enough ventilation through the coal to prevent internal combustion, he said. It is easiest done by placing a few pipes, perforated with holes, up right in your coalbin, the top above the coal, thus giving the gases a chance to escape. He will be glad to give further information.

The schools are going to be organized on A.R.P. lines when they open in the fall. Be at the demonstration in north Newmarket on July 7 at 7 p.m.

CHURCH DEPLORES INCREASE OF VICE

Rev. Dr. W. D. Muckle read at St. John's R.C. church on Sunday morning a joint pastoral letter and decree of Archbishop Villeneuve of Quebec, and of the archbishops, bishops, and other ordinaries of Canada, concerning the position of the Catholic people in the present war.

PART I

"Because of continued developments in the war, our hopes for a complete victory, together with a just and lasting peace, seem deferred to a future more distant than we had anticipated. Indeed the danger is coming nearer home, and is threatening more ominously every day. Since the beginning of the war, each of us, in his own diocese, recalled your minds to the principles that should always guide us as citizens of our great country. The time has now come when we feel the need of opening our hearts to you, and with one mind and one voice, expressing our intimate sentiments on this momentous question.

"His Holiness Pope Pius XII has never ceased to exhort all nations to respect the rights of God and of the Christian conscience. He has multiplied his writings and addresses; every day he has offered his prayers and mortifications to bring back peace to the world. We, on our part, have bent all our efforts towards that same peace, not a superficial and merely external peace, not a mere cessation of hostilities, which would open the way to domination by force and would allow the denial of God and social injustices of all kinds to go unpunished. Rather, the peace for which we long must be a true peace, the fruit of justice and charity; peace that will establish a wise and strong international order, which in turn will guarantee the personal rights of individuals, as well as the general good of nations and of the human race.

"A faulty peace, an unjust peace, would serve only to sow the seeds of future wars and more cruel sufferings. A true peace, based on a renewed Christian order, should, with the help of God, bring all nations many years of tranquillity and prosperity. In other words, civil and international society must be so organized on the unshakable principles of the Gospel, that the individual, the family and the state may find free scope for their legitimate attitudes and aims, and that for the whole human race, social life may once more become an aid and a support, rather than a hindrance, in attaining their eternal destiny.

"This is why, dearly beloved in Christ, you have not wavered in the face of the varied sacrifices which the virtue of fortitude imposes on people engaged in a just war.

"One has only to study the anti-Christian doctrine and principles of Nazism in the light of the encyclical 'Mit brennender Sorge' of Pope Pius XI, and of the statements of the German hierarchy, and of the record of oppression and destruction in every country which has come under the yoke of Nazism, to realize the extremity of barbarism, persecution and intolerance, to which it would reduce all nations in the world conquest of which it dreams and towards which it strives.

"Consequently, dearly beloved in Christ, we were not surprised but sincerely and deeply elated at seeing you, from the very beginning of the conflict, generously respond to the call of your country.

"Truly a glorious page in our history will recall the devotion, courage and heroism aroused in our people by this present war.

"Dearly beloved in Christ, you have taken your place side by side with your fellow citizens of every class and of every race, in this ready and generous response. And in order to express our satisfaction, we are glad to borrow the very words which His Holiness Pope XII addressed to the world on June 29th last: 'We, like you, feel our heart grow faint at the thought of the tempest of evil, of suffering, and of anguish, that now rages over the world. However, there are not lacking in the darkness of the storm, comforting thoughts which dilate our heart with holy and great expectation: generous courage in defence of the fundamental Christian civilization, and confident hope in their triumph, the strongest love of fatherland, the most heroic acts of virtue, chosen souls ready for every sacrifice, and widespread reawakening of faith and piety, are not lacking.' (Acta Apostolicae Sedis, XXXIII, 1941, pp. 320-321.)

QUARTER FAIL TO PASS BOARD STATES M.O.H.

DR. WESLEY DISCUSSES
ANGLES TO HEALTH
NURSE QUESTION

'GET WAR OVER FIRST'

"As there is at the present time quite a strong movement on foot by the Home and School Association, assisted by a resolution passed by the Lions club and published in a recent number of the local papers, asking for the employment of a health nurse for the primary and secondary schools of the town, to commence duties at the opening of the fall school term, I feel that the public should have some further information on this very important subject and it is for this purpose this letter is written," states Dr. J. H. Wesley, M.O.H.

"When the matter of a health nurse was first brought up, I wrote to Dr. Phair, chief medical officer of health at the parliament building, asking for first-hand information on the subject, and the first question I asked him was if there would be enough employment for a full-time nurse in a town with a population of 4,000. Of course there could be only one answer to that and that would depend entirely on the ambition and qualifications of the nurse and how she applied herself to the many and varied tasks that come in the routine of the nurse.

"Surely if a school teacher with a roll of 20 pupils can find enough to keep her on the jump all day, the nurse can find enough to keep her more than busy with 500 pupils and five schools to look after. The city of Toronto with a population of around seven or eight hundred thousand people employs about 125 health nurses, which would allow a nurse for about each 6,400.

"Most towns the size of Newmarket have a health nurse and some with about half the population of ours have one. The city of Guelph has two nurses and at present the city is being divided into four districts and they are doubling the number of nurses. But the people of Newmarket must decide this matter for themselves.

"Here is something rather interesting. The York county hospital is under contract to x-ray the recruits as they come into the military camp. Last week we got word from the adjutant that there would be 350 chests of new arrivals to x-ray commencing Thursday morning. They began to come in Thursday afternoon and by Friday Saturday morning the officer in charge said, 'That is the lot.' On being asked where the rest of them were, he said they had fallen down before the medical board.

"When the men arrive at the camp from every part of the province, they appear before the medical board for examination and afterwards are sent on for x-ray examination. The officer informed me that 25 percent of the 350 men failed to pass the medical examination. Then a certain percentage would fall down in the x-ray at the hospital, besides a large number who were given a very low rating at the first local examination at home, so low, in fact, that they would never be called up. That leaves only 50 percent of our young men are unfit for military service is hard to believe, yet these are the facts.

"This looks as though the youth of our country are being greatly neglected and there is not much we can do about it for those who have reached the age of military responsibility, but what about the babies who are on the way and the new arrivals of the 350 men and the present school children? We as their parents and guardians have a very grave responsibility placed on our shoulders and we cannot afford to shut our eyes to such facts as have been narrated above.

"By exacting the highest price for our produce and the services required to produce it, we are capitalizing on the future of our democracy and the safety and protection of our families. Let us get this war over first, let us all forget our differences and bend to the oars with one accord until the object of winning the war is accomplished. Then we will show the world what we will do for the children and what great and illustrious Canadians they shall become because of the care they received in their childhood."

SAY IT IS JOB FOR PARENTS, NOT POLICE

A request from the Newmarket Ministerial Association for a "curfew" for children under 16 years was received by the town council on Monday evening.

"There are plenty of arguments both ways," said Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales.

"It's one thing to make the law and another thing to enforce it," said Councillor A. D. Evans.

"Well, the town or the police are not going to be responsible for enforcing it," said Dr. Dales. "These family matters should be looked after by the families themselves."

"I think so too," said Councillor J. L. Spillette.

FORMER NEWMARKET LADY DIES AT SHARON

A well-known resident of Newmarket for 18 or 20 years, where the late Mrs. Kershaw had a grocery and butcher business, Mrs. John Kershaw died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. R. Fry of Sharon, on Saturday. She had been ill for about two weeks.

Mrs. Kershaw, the former Mary Johnston, was born at Owen Sound in 1863. She married John Kershaw on Dec. 28, 1887. They farmed in the Owen Sound district for a number of years, until moving to Newmarket and going into business here.

Mrs. Kershaw was a woman of firm religious convictions and throughout her life was an earnest and energetic worker in the Presbyterian church. In Newmarket she was active in St. Andrew's church and for many years was a faithful member of the Women's Missionary Society. A few years ago, as a tribute to her sincere efforts, she was made a life member.

Mr. and Mrs. Kershaw moved to Sharon about five years ago. Mr. Kershaw died on Jan. 18, 1940. For the last couple of years Mrs. Kershaw had made her home with Mrs. Fry at Sharon.

Surviving are three sons, Frank of Goderich, Herbert of Newmarket, Edward of Toronto; five daughters, Mrs. E. R. Fry of Sharon, Mrs. E. W. Davis of Gore Bay, Mrs. Wilbert Anderson of Belhaven and Mrs. Louis Knowles of Newmarket; six brothers, W. E. Johnston, Alexander Johnston and Andrew Johnston of Owen Sound, Thos. Johnston of Toronto, George Johnston of Hymers, Ont., and Frank Johnston of Port George, B.C., and one sister, Mrs. Chas. Lewis of Bowness, Alta.

The funeral service was held at Sharon United church on Monday, with Rev. Hugh Shannon in charge. Pallbearers were Frank, Herbert and Edward Kershaw, E. R. Fry, Wilbert Anderson and Louis Knowles. Interment was made in Newmarket cemetery.

SAY IT IS JOB FOR PARENTS, NOT POLICE

A request from the Newmarket Ministerial Association for a "curfew" for children under 16 years was received by the town council on Monday evening.

"There are plenty of arguments both ways," said Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales.

"It's one thing to make the law and another thing to enforce it," said Councillor A. D. Evans.

"Well, the town or the police are not going to be responsible for enforcing it," said Dr. Dales. "These family matters should be looked after by the families themselves."

"I think so too," said Councillor J. L. Spillette.

FORMER NEWMARKET LADY DIES AT SHARON

A well-known resident of Newmarket for 18 or 20 years, where the late Mrs. Kershaw had a grocery and butcher business, Mrs. John Kershaw died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. R. Fry of Sharon, on Saturday. She had been ill for about two weeks.

Mrs. Kershaw, the former Mary Johnston, was born at Owen Sound in 1863. She married John Kershaw on Dec. 28, 1887. They farmed in the Owen Sound district for a number of years, until moving to Newmarket and going into business here.

Mrs. Kershaw was a woman of firm religious convictions and throughout her life was an earnest and energetic worker in the Presbyterian church. In Newmarket she was active in St. Andrew's church and for many years was a faithful member of the Women's Missionary Society. A few years ago, as a tribute to her sincere efforts, she was made a life member.

Mr. and Mrs. Kershaw moved to Sharon about five years ago. Mr. Kershaw died on Jan. 18, 1940. For the last couple of years Mrs. Kershaw had made her home with Mrs. Fry at Sharon.

Surviving are three sons, Frank of Goderich, Herbert of Newmarket, Edward of Toronto; five daughters, Mrs. E. R. Fry of Sharon, Mrs. E. W. Davis of Gore Bay, Mrs. Wilbert Anderson of Belhaven and Mrs. Louis Knowles of Newmarket; six brothers, W. E. Johnston, Alexander Johnston and Andrew Johnston of Owen Sound, Thos. Johnston of Toronto, George Johnston of Hymers, Ont., and Frank Johnston of Port George, B.C., and one sister, Mrs. Chas. Lewis of Bowness, Alta.

The funeral service was held at Sharon United church on Monday, with Rev. Hugh Shannon in charge. Pallbearers were Frank, Herbert and Edward Kershaw, E. R. Fry, Wilbert Anderson and Louis Knowles. Interment was made in Newmarket cemetery.

QUARTER FAIL TO PASS BOARD STATES M.O.H.

ANGLES TO HEALTH
NURSE QUESTION

'GET WAR OVER FIRST'

"As there is at the present time quite a strong movement on foot by the Home and School Association, assisted by a resolution passed by the Lions club and published in a recent number of the local papers, asking for the employment of a health nurse for the primary and secondary schools of the town, to commence duties at the opening of the fall school term, I feel that the public should have some further information on this very important subject and it is for this purpose this letter is written," states Dr. J. H. Wesley, M.O.H.

"When the matter of a health nurse was first brought up, I wrote to Dr. Phair, chief medical officer of health at the parliament building, asking for first-hand information on the subject, and the first question I asked him was if there would be enough employment for a full-time nurse in a town with a population of 4,000. Of course there could be only one answer to that and that would depend entirely on the ambition and qualifications of the nurse and how she applied herself to the many and varied tasks that come in the routine of the nurse.

"Surely if a school teacher with a roll of 20 pupils can find enough to keep her on the jump all day, the nurse can find enough to keep her more than busy with 500 pupils and five schools to look after. The city of Toronto with a population of around seven or eight hundred thousand people employs about 125 health nurses, which would allow a nurse for about each 6,400.

"Most towns the size of Newmarket have a health nurse and some with about half the population of ours have one. The city of Guelph has two nurses and at present the city is being divided into four districts and they are doubling the number of nurses. But the people of Newmarket must decide this matter for themselves.

"Here is something rather interesting. The York county hospital is under contract to x-ray the recruits as they come into the military camp. Last week we got word from the adjutant that there would be 350 chests of new arrivals to x-ray commencing Thursday morning. They began to come in Thursday afternoon and by Friday Saturday morning the officer in charge said, 'That is the lot.' On being asked where the rest of them were, he said they had fallen down before the medical board.

"When the men arrive at the camp from every part of the province, they appear before the medical board for examination and afterwards are sent on for x-ray examination. The officer informed me that 25 percent of the 350 men failed to pass the medical examination. Then a certain percentage would fall down in the x-ray at the hospital, besides a large number who were given a very low rating at the first local examination at home, so low, in fact, that they would never be called up. That leaves only 50 percent of our young men are unfit for military service is hard to believe, yet these are the facts.

"This looks as though the youth of our country are being greatly neglected and there is not much we can do about it for those who have reached the age of military responsibility, but what about the babies who

COUNCIL FACES PROBLEMS

It is national economic policy that as many non-essential expenditures as possible be avoided for the duration of the war. This applies to personal expenditures for clothing as well as to public undertakings. The individual must judge whether his contemplated purchase is a "must." The public body must judge whether its contemplated undertaking is a "must." It is not inconsistent that at the same time it is a part of national policy to increase expenditures on health. Curtailing non-essential expenditures and increasing health expenditures are both designed to promote the war effort.

The town council discussed on Monday evening two proposals in terms of the war effort. These were, first, the much needed clerk's office, and second, the much asked for public health nurse. For years we have advocated a public health nurse, but we do not regard a nurse as any more, or even as much, needed as during the depression with its under-nourishment and poor health. We do think, however, that there is a much better chance of getting a nurse at the present time. The high percentage of army rejections, first-aid and public health courses, the widespread emphasis on citizen health as a contribution to the war effort, the over-working of doctors, an increase in citizen income, all make the present an opportune time to go ahead with the public health nurse project. The nurse will earn her salary many times over in savings to the municipality, saved sickness time to breadwinners and employers, saved school days to children, worry avoided by parents, medical and hospital accounts avoided.

We see no good reason for lumping together the public health nurse and the clerk's office and saying that if we have one we must have the other or if we have one we can't have the other. Each proposal should be judged on its merits. Each should be subjected to the questions: Will it be a good investment? Will it interfere with or contribute to the war effort?

There is going to be no public demand for a new clerk's office. That is rightly regarded as a town council responsibility. The council seems to be unanimous that the present office is inadequate. The present office has served this long only because the clerk is a part-time official and has transacted town business in his own office. He contends, and the water and light committee members seem to agree with him, that the office is not even adequate for efficient work on the part of the assistant clerk and the occasional clerical help which she from time to time requires. Another point is that the war brought the military camp to Newmarket and the camp brought extra work to the clerk's office. Mayor Dales thinks that he may be able to find a temporary solution of the clerk's office problem. If he can't, then it would seem reasonable that the council should submit its problem to the construction controller, as suggested by the clerk, Mr. Mathews, and accept his ruling on whether or not it would be desirable, from an Ottawa angle, to build a new office at the present time.

There will not be any widespread agreement with Reeve Lundy that it is up to the Home and School Association to continue to educate the public as to the necessity for a public health nurse, and that the council should not act until the public demand for a health nurse is universal. If the council were not to spend any money until every citizen had demanded it, we would not make much progress.

If the council believed in that policy it would not have voted itself remuneration this year. If the council believed in that policy it would never get a new clerk's office, either now or within the next 20 years. Generally speaking, the taxpayers are opposed to any expenditures unless the council decide that they are necessary. The taxpayers rely on the council to use its judgment and to make these decisions. The taxpayers will not approve expenditures which the council does not approve and advocate.

For instance, the council might seek this fall an expression of public opinion on the three questions: (1) Do you favor employment of a public health nurse at a cost of $1,500 a year? (2) Do you favor building a new clerk's office at $315 a year? (3) Do you favor remunerating the town council at a cost of $1,300 a year? What would be the result? Probably three No's. The first proposal would have the best chance of carrying. The second, we think, would have a better chance than the third.

The alternative to seeking an expression of public opinion is to go ahead with (1) and (3) and give the public a chance to weigh the results. The council has taken this course with (3) and the public can show its disapproval at any future time if it is dissatisfied. The alternative with (2) is to consult the Ontario municipal board and the dominion construction controller.

When the councillors have to worry with problems like these it is not unfitting that they should be paid!

EQUALITY OF SACRIFICE

It is said to be demagoguery to talk of "conscription of wealth." The fact remains that, however extreme, it is possible to make a levy on capital just as it is possible to make levies on income. There will be wide sympathy with the position of the Vancouver C.C.F. member of parliament, Angus MacInnis, moving an amendment to "Bill No. 80," that if there is to be conscription of manpower for overseas military service there should also be conscription of manpower for home-front service and conscription of wealth. Prime Minister Mackenzie King has hinted on a couple of occasions that if he brings in overseas conscription he may bring in also some measure of conscription of wealth.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

TREND OF THE TIMES

(Oshawa and Whitby Times-Gazette)

The amalgamation of Newmarket's two weekly newspapers, The Era and The Express-Herald, marks another step in the trend toward one-newspaper towns. It has been our privilege to see the most recent issue of The Newmarket Era and Express and we have been much impressed with its fine typography and bright, newsy pages. Congratulations are due Andrew O. Hebb, its publisher and editor, for the service he is giving the people of Newmarket and district.

At one time practically every Ontario town and village had two newspapers. Each staunchly upheld its favorite political party and its followers. Editors in those days cared little for libel laws and the things said about individuals would not be tolerated today. In most instances they were dependent upon the party "pork barrel" and as a result publishers were able to eke out but a meagre livelihood.

Today, country newspapers are taking a saner course. Endeavoring to remain independent, they strive to report all viewpoints without allegiance to any party, group or individual and hold themselves free to offer criticism within the bounds of fair comment.

We extend greetings to the newly amalgamated paper and best wishes for a long and useful career.

Newmarket Boys Meet While On Manoeuvres

Newmarket Veterans Association have received a letter dated April 28 from Cpl. H. P. Myers.

"It is now over two years since I arrived in England with the forces," he writes. "During that time I have had the pleasure of seeing quite a lot of England."

"Yes, I daresay I have seen as much, if not more, than a lot of people who have lived here for years. It is indeed a very beautiful country, but still and all I like Canada the best."

"There are many grand old historical sights over here and no doubt we are ought to feel proud to be a part of the empire for which we are fighting a long and tedious battle in order that peace may rule among us all again."

"As I say, there really are many wonderful sights to see, but, gentlemen, there is not a bit of scenery, no matter how beautiful it may be, that looks as good as our parcels of smokes and other articles. So, at this instant, I want to thank you all from the bottom of my heart, for what you have been doing. You are not only helping the soldiers over here, but what is far more important, you are strengthening their morale to a very high degree."

"I say this because I, myself, even though I do get plenty of mail, know what it is like to go without smokes or even a letter from home."

"You would be very much surprised, indeed, if you could see the faces on the boys when some mail comes in, if they don't get any. They are very much disappointed, but when they do receive some, there is all the difference in the world towards life, especially the life we are leading at present. Much of the stress of the boys in the army is greatly relieved by just a card or letter from home and you'd be utterly surprised if you actually saw it."

"The veterans and the ladies' clubs, in Newmarket, do deserve a lot of credit, as well as the Lions, and I want to thank you one and all for your great effort."

"In the past two years I have seen a lot of air raids and some very bad ones at that."

"I remember very well the first air-raid I saw. Twelve planes dived down, bombing and machine gunning. My unit was stationed nearby in a hush field."

"Since I have been here I have had several leaves and I go up to the north-east coast of England to visit relatives and friends in my home-town. A lot of people know me, as well as my family, and I do enjoy myself very much. I am very lucky compared to some chaps. However, those that have no relations are not sad. They enjoy themselves in the big cities and they can make friends very easily. Then again there are lots of clubs where they can stay and they often meet people through the ladies in the clubs."

"We all hope this war will be over before long. I know that I'm just longing to see good old Newmarket again. I imagine it is very different now, but I still think it's the 'biggest little town' in Ontario, honestly."

"I do hope you keep up your good work and once again I want to thank one and all of you who are helping by doing your bit for the boys. I'll say cheerio for now, folks."

"P.S.—I met Freddie Evans, Art Brymer and Walter Wrightman on a scheme. We had quite a chat about the town and I really did enjoy meeting them. Please tell they folks that I have met them. Will you? Thanks a million."

ACHIEVEMENT

We are apt to think of achievement in terms of great discoveries, pioneer adventuring, masterly scholarship or spectacular financial success; but there is another kind of achievement, which is not limited to the few who have genius or talents extraordinary, and I want to pay tribute to those who have won success in it.

Chicago trip, won it again, but as no one receives this twice, it went to the next highest, Don Little, of Unionville.

The boys are divided into groups, each with its own coach, and they judge horses, cattle, sheep and swine. The coach of the winning group, and boy with highest score receives a registered hog. If all this does not spell achievement, then my spelling days are done.

There was a presentation, also of interest to Newmarket and rural areas around. This was made to Mr. Dick Hilliard, Mr. Cockburn's able assistant, who, feeling the patriotic urge, has given up agriculture for the navy, which he enters as provisional sub-lieutenant. A military toilet kit was presented to him by Charles Haines, and the address read by Viola Rutledge.

We hope that all who did their utmost on achievement day will continue to achieve better and better things.

FATHER DIES

Hong Kong to many in Canada before the war was just a name. Today it is something more. Its valiant defence against overwhelming odds cost 295 Canadian lives, and its final surrender left 1,689 Canadian prisoners in Japanese hands. Circumstances surrounding the expedition caused the government to order an investigation. It was held behind closed doors, as was the Pearl Harbor enquiry across the border. The chief justice of Canada in his recent report has pretty well exonerated from blame everybody who had anything to do with the debacle of our troops to that orient; fighting ground. In some quarters a strong belief is apparently held that the evidence did not justify the findings. It is a safe speculation that the last has not been heard of Hong Kong in parliament. Whether parliament will witness a debate similar to that which followed the Bren gun report, only time will tell.

With the confusing and conflicting reports about the current debate on manpower in the commons, it might be helpful to tell in simple words what the government is submitting for the approval of parliament. In June, 1940, the government clothed itself with power to conscript everything and everybody in Canada for war service. One exception there was. In conscripting men, the National Resources Mobilization Act, as this legislation was called, only gave the government power to call up men for service at home—not overseas. The amendment to that act, which is known as Bill 80, is designed to remove all territorial limitations as to service and give the government full power to call men for service anywhere if, as, and when it wants to use that power. That, in a few words, is the purport of the legislation about which we hear so much.

Canada seems to have been "caught napping" in the worldwide wartime propaganda race. In 1938, by international agreement, this country had reserved for it nine short-wave broadcasting channels or "bands." A parliamentary committee the next year urged that a high-powered short-wave system be constructed, as other nations were doing. Germany grabbed one of the "bands," and others have followed suit, until all the channels were used up and practically all the transmitters gone. It begins to appear that we had a march stolen on us, and that it may be too late now to redeem our position. If the government acts quickly, it may be able to yet arrange for one transmitter, but time is very precious. These facts have come out in evidence in the radio broadcasting committee.

Four members of the present house of commons, Henry R. Emmerson, D. King Hazen, Hugues Lapointe, and Dr. C. J. Veniot, can boast that their fathers were cabinet ministers in former days. Hon. "Bill" Mulock from North York occupies the rare position of having a grandfather who occupied the cabinet portfolio he himself now holds. Several members can claim uncles and other relatives who sat as private members in former parliaments, while Harry Jackson, M.P. for Toronto-Rosedale, is the son-in-law of the late Hon. Newton Wesley Rowell, who was second in command to Sir Robert Borden in the union government of 1917.

The invasion of Ottawa by thousands of new government workers since the war began has severely taxed the city's housing facilities. Recently the attention of parliament was drawn to the unhealthy situation in this respect by Messrs. Hanson and Caldwell. It is well-nigh impossible to find a room in the capital city just now. Col. Art Ross, from Melita, Manitoba, and I have been sharing one room ever since the fall of 1940, and a good many members have the same trouble finding living quarters. During the debate on the topic of local housing conditions in the city, the government was urged by Mr. Hanson to erect a women's hostel to relieve crowding. Mr. Caldwell lashed out at the government over the statement of some official that building supplies for such projects could not be released because they were needed for war purposes. He pointed out that at the same time a permit had been given for the erection of a brewers' warehouse on Ottawa's Catherine St. The upshot of it all is that the government is going to review the situation seriously with the aid of a committee of civil servants.

To be called the "official back-scratcher of the government," fell to the lot of Ross MacDonald, M.P. for Brantford, during the parliamentary discussion on the price-ceiling policy. He had made a very eulogistic speech about Mr. Ilsley and was followed by Mr. Hanson. After a few good-natured exchanges between the two, the member for Brantford asked the opposition leader if he was trying to beat the long-distance record for speaking allegedly established by Jean Francois Pouliot. In reply, Mr. Hanson said "No, I am not, and I am not making any fulsome eulogy to constitute myself the official back-scratcher of the administration." There were plenty of windows in that debate. When Mr. Hanson called the price-ceiling subsidies a policy of "robbing Peter to pay Paul," Paul Martin, M.P. for Essex, shouted out "And Paul should be paid." There is little humor today in the commons contrasted to the days before the war. Members are not in that mood any more.

There is plenty of unofficial talk these days about the budget which will likely come down during the next two or three weeks. One thing is sure, there will be no easing up on taxation. The astronomical heights to which our war expenditure has soared will doubtless mean a heavier incidence of taxation spread over a wider field than ever. A delicate problem faces the minister of finance each year. He has to estimate in advance the increase in gross national income and tax accordingly, and he must also borrow sufficient to make up the balance. To know how far to tax and how much to borrow without upsetting the economic and business structure of the nation is no easy calculation. The more we pay now and the less we borrow, the lighter, naturally, will be our post-war burden. The budget will be awaited, as it always is, with keen interest and concern.

In the five years that Tyrone Power has been on the screen he's given many stirring portrayals, but his latest, "Son of Fury," the story of Benjamin Blake, which starts Monday at the Strand theatre, surpasses them all.

Based on Edison Marshall's best-selling novel, "Son of Fury" has everything—swashbuckling adventure, action on the high seas, torrid romance in the South Sea Islands, realistic fights. The story is laid in the early 1800's and depicts the adventures of a nameless urchin who must go through life battling the world for his birthright. It is the blazing history of a man who rises from stable boy to ruler of a South sea paradise, and who deserts this paradise to claim his name.

George Sanders, Frances Farmer and young Roddy McDowall complete the top featured cast, and each turns in a well-rounded performance. Sanders is at his sinister best as the treacherous conspiring uncle, while the talented Mr. Farmer makes a most appealing young English girl. Roddy McDowall follows up with a remarkable portrayal of the youthful Benjamin Blake.

Also included in the impressive cast are John Carradine, Elsa Lanchester, Harry Davenport, Kay Johnson and Dudley Digges.

It's roar, roar, roar... as slap-happy Maxie Rosenbloom invades the Harvard campus and drives the profs wild... the co-eds gaga... and everyone cuckoo with mirth.

In the uproarious comedy, "Harvard, Here I Come!" It's the ex-pugilist first starring role and he's in excellent company, with those two beauties, Marie Wilson and Arline Judge, adding their charms to the supporting cast.

Other members of the cast include Stanley Brown, Byron Foulger, Don Beddoe and Virginia Sale.

"H. M. Pulham, Esq.," based on J. F. Marquand's best-selling novel, proves to be front-rank screen entertainment. Its principal characters are enacted by Hedy Lamarr, Robert Young and Ruth Hussey. The picture opens at the Strand next Wednesday.

The M-G-M picture follows the book with fidelity, recounting the life of Pulham, young Bostonian, who, after Harvard and the world war, plunges into business activity in a New York advertising agency and meets the love of his life in an ambitious "career-girl." Then, unable to escape his destiny, he returns to his home town to marry the girl of his family's choice, and, 20 years later, finds that when the opportunity comes he cannot recapture the romance of his youth.

Hedy Lamarr gives a crisp, inclusive portrayal of Marlyn Myles, the straightforward young business woman. Young is excellent in the title role of Harry Pulham, which sees him first as a college boy and finally as a settled business man of middle age. Ruth Hussey is effective as the woman he marries, a typically conservative Boston aristocrat.

Winners Just Scramble This Week In Order To See "Roxie Hart" or "I Wake Up Screaming"

Of 28 answers for last week's contest 11 were both correct and in on time.

Cliff Insley, Main St. merchant, drew the five winners as follows: Mrs. D. H. Fines, 111 Prospect St., Newmarket, M. Boyd, Timothy St., Newmarket, Francis Elphinstone, 7 D'Arcy St., Newmarket, Glenna West, 9 Pearson St., Newmarket, and G. F. McCannan, Newmarket.

The correct answers were as follows: cabinet, expenses, range, military, estate, duplex, harness, comfort and summer. The sixth word was left out in error, so nine answers constituted a perfect answer.

The five winners receive double passes to the Strand theatre for next Tuesday evening, to see "Son of Fury," or "Harvard, Here I Come," or next Thursday evening to see "H. M. Pulham, Esq.," and "Wolf Man." They may pick up their passes any evening at the theatre.

THIS WEEK'S CONTEST

There will be five double passes given to winners this week. They will see either Ginger Rogers and George Montgomery in "Roxie Hart," plus Lloyd Nolan and Mary Beth Hughes in "Blue, White and Perfect," on Tuesday, June 30, or Betty Grable, Victor Mature and Carole Landis in "I Wake Up Screaming," Gene Tierney, Walter Huston and Victor Mature in "Shanghai Gesture," on Thursday, July 2. Answers must reach The Era and Express office by 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday. A Newmarket business man will draw the five winners from all those who send in correct answers. Winning previously does not disqualify anyone.

There are ten scrambled words to puzzle with this week. All the words occur in the classified columns. Here are the ten words: ROOSTERSTANTM, STOMEN-RNA, CAYONPUCC, STOOPIR-OPNI, GAEHPHRE, GRIATOR-FERRE, GRELLINTE, NCRA-TEEN, QUANTE, OSTOAPTE.

NEED GLASSES?

When your head aches and you know what causes it, you take steps to remove the cause. But what do you do when eye strain causes it? Probably nothing, which doesn't seem the part of wisdom, does it? Headaches from eye strain are stopped to stay stopped when the errors of vision are corrected. Our service often secures such a result. See Wainman for thorough eye examination. (Adv.)

The son of the late Hannah and John G. Neilly of Gifford, he was born at Meaford. He married Blanche Rogers.

HEAR CONVENTION REPORT
AT W.C.T.U. MEETING

The June meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Mrs. J. Phimister on June 9, with Mrs. Roy Meads acting as president.

Reports of the county convention were given by Miss Bertha Neilly and Miss L. Starr. The theme of the convention was "Through Toil to the Stars".

They reported that Mrs. J. H. Fisher, in charge of the soldiers' and sailors' work for Toronto district said, "There are more converts in the hospitals than in the churches." Rev. Gordon Domm of Bathurst St. United church, Toronto, spoke at the convention. He was reported as saying that "the liquor business is just as disgusting in 1941 as it was in 1914. Tea, coffee and sugar are rationed, but nothing is said about rationing beer or hard liquor."

The hostess served a lovely lunch and a social time was spent.

IT'S CHEAPER IN U.S.A.

Canadian beef is selling for ten cents less in the state of Washington than it is in Newmarket. J. H. May, Newmarket butcher, stated last week. Mr. May had some Washington state newspapers to support his statement.

Mr. May said that as a result of new regulation about killing cattle an independent butcher in Newmarket must, in practice, get his beef from one or other of two packers and just take what they give him.

Mr. Pugh, who succeeded R. W. Allen as secretary-treasurer of the Toronto synod, was present and spoke briefly, while Prof. B. W. Horan of Wycliffe College, Toronto, gave the address. Next year the two meetings will be held at St. Paul's church, Newmarket.

WHITCHURCH
CLERGY RESERVES
DISTRIBUTION BEGINS

Following the suggestion of Police Constable Robt. Windsor, Whitchurch township council on Saturday named Councillors Evans, Baker and Logan as a police committee, whose duty it will be to check police accounts and consult with the township police on any matters that may need their attention. Reeve C. E. Toole and Deputy-Reeve George Leary sponsored the resolution.

The council was holding the June session, and opened the tenders for garbage collection at Musselman's Lake and Lake Wilcox. Percy Ash was the only one who tendered for Lake Wilcox and received the contract at $300. Frank Widdfield was awarded the contract for Musselman's Lake at $150, the lowest tender. Other tenders were received from Geo. Windsor at $225 and Herb Simpson at $200.

Herb Mitchell made a few pointed statements in attempting to persuade the council that they should widen the sidewalk from the ninth concession to his farm, which he said would not cost more than $100. "I think it would cost at least $500," declared Road Superintendent Henry Widdfield.

"We have been forced to reduce road expenditures from around $18,000 to only $10,000," Reeve Toole said. "If we had the money I would be happy to support your request, but the money is apportioned to the beats."

"You do not smile about it, can you say what you mean," said Mr. Mitchell.

"All right, I will," said the reeve. "I told another fellow in just the same predicament as you are that his taxes were very low, and your road is better today than when you moved in there years ago. I don't think there will be a cent left over on widening that road this year."

Councillor Baker said he would like to see the grader put on this sidewalk and the one at the Pinnacle. Councillor Logan agreed.

"Very good," said Councillor Evans, "but unless you cut those high banks well back it will be good. The snow will just pile up and there will be no place to push it."

Inspector Lapp submitted the apportionment of the first $5,000 of clergy reserve funds now on hand, which are to be paid to the school sections. The distribution is to be made on a basis of attendance and will be as follows:

COTTAGE IS ENTERED

It was discovered last Saturday that a summer cottage at Lake Wilcox owned by Jack Webster of Toronto has been entered and a quantity of furniture, pictures, dishes and golf clubs smashed to pieces. Police believe it to be the work of juveniles. County Constable Aubrey Fleury is investigating.

"No, I say, 'we can't afford a bigger house not while our boys need bigger tanks!'"

"MY HUSBAND and the children say that now there's so much money coming in, I should have all the things I've always wanted."

"But I say no thank you! My Freddie gave up his job willingly and lives in a tent. The least each of us at home can do is to go without this and that and buy War Savings Stamps every week so the boys over there will have everything they need for victory."

DOWN THE CENTRE

Farmer Rowntree was in town last week looking for the picture of health. It's easier to get him talking about the birds and the bees than it is about hockey. The old maestro of the hockey cushion had his chest puffed out a bit over the softball pitching of "Son" Rowntree, who is tossing them over in a rural league for Emory, once a soccer stronghold, now as currently excited about mushball. Son has won two games in two starts. Daughter Beryl is assisting on the farm and will enter a Toronto hospital to train for a nurse come fall and winter.

Nuggets Shore has forsaken the school textbooks for a rifle and is now in training with the army. A recent benedict, Shore received his call and promptly went on active service. Wherever he is, you can depend on it he will be fondling a softball pill with some army team.

"Fat" James, a member of the 30th battery, is now taking an instructor's course at Ottawa and may or may not go along when Connie Smythe and his boys leave some day for an unknown destination. Eidon wants to go with his buddies but he has the stuff the soldiers need for good instructors. Grant Gillespie, star centre man for Milton juniors the past year, has successfully filled older brother Doug's shoes with Etobicoke Indians in lacrosse and has turned in three grand games to date. It was Red who sunk the champion ship St. Catharines Athletics with last-minute goal in their first clash of the season.

Hard luck dealt out a hand last week at Dufferin track to George Cosford, Aurora trainer and owner. For the past three years he has been bringing along a promising youngster called Sandow, whose blood-lines and work-outs as a two-year-old indicated he would surprise the boys when he hit the track. Altho eligible for the King's Plate he wasn't entered and was set to make his maiden debut at Little Saratoga. With apprentice rider Chris Rogers aboard, Sandow was out for a trial when he went berserk for some unknown reason, crashing through the rail and being so seriously injured he had to be destroyed. It was a tough break for the Aurora sportsman. We admire George's patience and the way he has stuck at the racing game despite adversity. One of these days he's bound to click for a big killing.

Jimmy Lynch, the well-known west Toronto sportsman and theatre manager, crossed the Great Divide the other day and his loss leaves a real gap among the finest type of sports backers. Lynch in the fall of 1931 lured Bill Thoms and "Dodger" Collings from the ranks of the Newmarket Redmen and they became integral parts of a west Toronto machine that went through to the final round of the dominion finals. Normy Lampert, now a pro, referee, and Bob Gracie were members of the team. Ernie James, older brother of "Fat" and a former lacrosse star with Bradford and Aurora juniors, is overseas with the army service corps. Another former Bradford stick wielder overseas is "Baldy" Stoddart of the vintage of 1922-23. Stoddart went overseas with the posties but has been transferred to the 48th Highlanders. Markham high continues to lead southern York softball loop with a long string of wins. Two of the teachers of the school, Mr. Thom and Mr. Bates, are playing with their pupils. Jackie Watson of Markham juniors is the star hurler.

Orchids to Ralph Wheatley of Vancor and Alf Hill of Unionville, who about ten days ago supervised two fine public school meetings for the rural pupils of Whitechurch and Markham township. The big district meet held last year at Richmond Hill for four rural townships petered out because of gas rationing but we were glad to see the townships themselves do better. There is a splendid crop of better trained athletes coming to the district high schools from the rural schools each year. George Bowser of Hartman's Corners and Harry Rawlick of Pine Orchard are two lads who deserve special mention for their performances.

Charlie Sweeney, the former director of athletics at St. Andrew's College and one-time Aurora hockey coach, is now with the navy at Esquimalt, B.C., and will graduate as a lieutenant shortly.

Don Hamilton, who guarded the net for Aurora juniors the last season, was in town on Sunday and looks in the pink. He had on his 48th Highlanders uniform, having been on manoeuvres with the reserve unit of the Scotties. Next week he goes to Niagara for his two weeks training. If hockey for Aurora is a possibility, Hamilton will be back next winter and that goes for most of last year's team too. He has also lined up a bunch of players, including most of his T. H. L. champs, who are anxious to play here. If conditions were right Aurora could lay down its best team in years next winter.

Ronnie Rowe, the Markham flash, and Don are both keeping fit these days by playing soccer with East End juveniles, who have a strong team in the Toronto league. Don is a fullback and Rowe is playing centre-forward.

Scotty Mair, 'tis said, is headed for the army within a few weeks and will do his puckchasing other than in St. Catharines next winter. Hughie should do well, as he has both the personality and the brains to go places. He is a mighty sweet softballer too.

Pickering College held its annual sports dinner last week and among the speakers was Tim Daly, treasurer of Toronto Leafs in hockey and press agent for the Toronto ball team. Probably no man has a more ready fund of anecdotes than the veteran Daly. He is no polished speaker but pours it out from the heart and, as he admitted himself, judging by the applause the boys went for him in a big way.

"Applause? Why they nearly tore the joint down," said Daly. The Garratt award for the outstanding grad of the year was again split between two members, Don Dewar and Dan Sherry. Both boys were all-rounders. Des Partridge, who was outstanding in the high school basketball series this year, was among those receiving first colors. The other two lads both played in this series too.

"Rusty" White, the former Richmond Hill boy who was a three-star performer at lacrosse, baseball and hockey in these parts, has returned to the national game for his 11th consecutive season. Most of his lacrosse has been spent with Fergus seniors. This year he is with Owen Sound Georgians. Always a top scorer in the O.A.A., he got off to a fine start as he banged home one counter and got three assists against the Mimico-Brampton team. Like Old Man River, the mighty Rusty "just keeps rolling along."

Meanwhile brother Al. White, in his day a fair all-round athlete, tho' not as prominent as his older brother, is fast winning recognition as one of North York's best lawn bowlers. He is a member of the Newmarket club and last week, teamed with Charlie Willis, took the doubles honors at the Aurora tournament.

Mount Albert sports days will be held this Saturday and a splendid softball program is being arranged. It is the 18th consecutive year it has been held. It was originally scheduled for June 6 but the rains made the grounds bad and it was postponed. Sgt. Howard Morton, former Mount Albert boy and district sports promoter, came up from Ottawa for the event. Howard is now staff-sergeant with the R.C.C.S.

PLEASANTVILLE JR. RED CROSS HELPS WAR VICTIMS' FUND

At the Junior Red Cross meeting at Bogartown school on Friday, Harvey Heacock drew the lucky ticket for the Afghan that the children made during the winter months. Erla Toole was the lucky winner. Fifteen dollars was realized from the sale of tickets. The entire proceeds are to be given to the B. W. V. fund. This is the fourth donation during the year. The pupils have sent $54 to date.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ashby, and Miss Zilpah Lavender have vacated the Johnson house and have gone to live at Sharon.

Last Wednesday about 12 ladies and one gentleman had a painting bee at the Union church and finished painting it that day. This week they expect another good gathering to do the same for the fence. Any interested parties may help defray expenses by giving donations to Mrs. Earl Toole, Mrs. Gordon McClure or Mrs. Ross Armitage, as soon as possible.

Miss Sadie McQueen of Stayner has been engaged as teacher for Bogartown school for another year.

EVERSLEY JUNIOR RED CROSS GIVES ENTERTAINMENT

Mrs. Ransom Williams of Uxbridge called on friends in King last Wednesday. She reports that Tommy Williams, son of Rev. T. Lewis Williams, a small boy when he lived in King City, is now on active service and is home on leave from Nova Scotia. Military life agrees with him and he weighs 150 lbs.

Mr. Ernest Congors Barker spent the weekend at Scots Whin Hae, the guest of Miss Alice Ferguson. He is a young artist, who is now doing war work in wood, making small disks and other forms required for the packing of bombs.

The big event for Eversley school on Friday was the Junior Red Cross Urti club finish-up party for the year.

The tables of home-baking, small articles, a yard of garden ornaments and a fish pond held the attention of the people until they were called in for the program. Miss McClure, the popular teacher, while on hand to welcome and to supervise, left the work in the capable hands of the pupils. George Mesley was chairman and knew all the neat little stunts that go with that office. After singing a group of patriotic songs, Miss M. E. Bartlett, Ontario superintendent for the Junior Red Cross told her story of the fine work the children throughout the schools in the province are doing.

Connie Laidlaw, a young but capable entertainer, impersonated several movie stars. She sang songs and with her puppet gave a delightful exhibition of ventriloquism. Nancy Ball sang a solo.

Walter Rolling, veteran teacher, gave a talk and the grand old lady, Miss Elizabeth Tinline, was present and made a short speech in her good strong voice, wonderful in a lady nearing her 95th year.

After the close of the program, a busy time was spent buying the wares on display and the gathering ended with a fine picnic.

The Eaton Hall auxiliary of the Red Cross provided a good lunch and tea, swelling the Red Cross funds and closing a fine afternoon.
